Abstract

The present paper is written by the Aryan elite, a new and young generation of Aryans mainly residing in Denmark. We have since the revelations of 2016 been active in redefining Aryan culture and spiritual life. As such, we have developed a brand new theology that centers on 1) the primacy of love, 2) the radicality of love and 3) the dialectics of the heart. Three concepts that will make us return to our homeland, heavens, via Kundalini-meditation and the ultimate goal of world history, aufheben – the upheaval of our people in religious ecstasy.

Along the way, we have rediscovered many new theories and spiritual capabilities and have made great efforts in understanding our Vedic (the Aryan/Sanskrit religion) and Eddic (the Nordic Eddas) heritage and culture.

In the paper, we present our remarks for a new culture, fx. the invention of a new term. the Væi, which stands for the spiritual, transcendental and ethereal life of our race.

At the same time, we make a plea for the bringing about of a white world order, named after the white and blessed day, to safeguard and ensure the redemption and salvation of the good mankind and as an alternative to the present Neo-liberal/Marxist world order that is utterly hopeless and apathetic.

We wish all good people of the world welcome to reflect upon our recent findings and our laudable goal of a new age of spiritual enlightenment.

Vedic culture as true Aryan culture rather than Christianity

The Aryan Vedas are approximately 4,000 years old, according to the oral tradition. The interesting fact to know about the Vedas is that the Vedas and Sanskrit were brought to India by the ancient Aryan race. When we today consider our roots, heritage and culture, we must know that our origin was the Sanskrit Vedas and not fx. Christianity, as is the primary religious perspective in the modern West today. True Aryan culture is therefore Vedic culture and, as is our thesis in this paper, we ought to rediscover and acknowledge this tradition as truly Aryan. In this paper, we will bring to life a new Aryan culture inspired by the ancient Vedic culture and tradition and informed by our recent investigations and inventions of what it truly means to be an Aryan. It is a deeply interesting subject to study and investigate one's own cultural background and even the more when we find so much accord with our own recent meditations on the subject matter. It is true to say that the investigations into Vedic culture goes perfectly well with the recent studies a new generation of Aryans have made in recent time. Apparently, the method for discovering the classical Vedas in ancient time was deep and prolonged meditation. This method is akin to the statement by Heidegger (1952) more recently that "to think is to listen" (to what being has to say). It is an interest in and sensitivity to the truth of being as a fundamental existential experience of the subject. Our thesis is that mankind and more specifically the Aryan race have an aspect of consciousness of being that is best described as a transcendental, timeless collective wisdom. This we now call the Vedas.

The task is to rediscover, explain and interpret this dimension of our collective consciousness. This we call race-mysticism, for it is specific to the Aryan race. It is popular today to cast into doubt the existence of races in general, but the present generation of Aryans will never let anyone doubt our blood and spirit as a heavenly race. For that reason, we believe in incarnation and reincarnation, exactly as the ancient Vedic culture did. To support that claim, the ancient Vedas operated with a transcendental plane of existence, just as was commonplace in the West until the enlightenment period. Figures such as Socrates, Plato and Plotinus all believed in the immortality and transmigration of the soul (metempsychosis), just as the Vedic Aryans did and the Egyptians. It is a recent finding that much of ancient Greek philosophy was inspired by the East (King, 1999). This explains why we find general recognition of the transcendental plane in ancient world philosophy.

Another interesting and utterly important fact of the Vedas was that the ancient Aryans discovered meditation, the Kundalini-energy and the Chakra-system so early on in world history. This proves the thesis that all religion has a common source – a pre-historic wisdom-religion, where meditation, Kundalini-yoga and the Chakras were discovered and practiced by the spiritual elite, maybe even by the common man. At least by the ancient Aryans.

As modern day Aryans, we wish to takeover this knowledge of a spiritual, divine reality and the yoga-practices associated therewith (see Riis-Søndergaard, 2022a). We reject the core tenet of Judaism/Christianity that the God-man was a Jew from Palestine. Instead, we have experience-based evidence that the true heavenly race is the Aryan race. This is what we fight for. Much of recent history, since the Enlightenment, has been occulted and today much of the West is atheist, with materialistic explanations of spirit, soul and consciousness. Not to speak of, what we have found to be, the mystical union of the fundamental reality of the two genders – love. For this reason, we practice tantra rather than the prevalent sexual intercourse – another clue from the ancient Vedas, which is recognized by the modern day Aryans.

The Væi: Phenomenology, hermeneutics and existentialism

The term “the Væi” is a new invention by the modern day Aryans. It denotes a transcendental reality, where life is experienced as atmosphere, vibes and flow – in German: “stimmung”. The Aryans inhabit the aether and the aether is enlivened by atmosphere and vibes (vibrations), which stimulates the soul. When we meditate along with practice of Kundalini-yoga, we experience the psychology as a flow of transcendental consciousness – what we term absolute spirit, as Hegel (1807) did. The ultimate point of the transcendental consciousness is divine love – the love between the Aryan man and woman. This is heavens – another brand new discovery of the modern day Aryans. When we meditate, we are alive in the transcendental aether, as we reflect upon love, truth, epistemics, wisdom and righteousness. There is a structure to reality – the world is not a void of empty signifiers, as post-structuralism would have you think. Even the less, the world is not purely materialistic, as modern day Western science would have you believe. Both of these predominant worldviews and views of man are reductionist to the point of hopelessness and apathy. Rather, the world and existence in general is a spiritual, mystical and enchanted reality, where the most significant reality is the duality of the two genders – again, the divine relation of the Aryan man and woman. For this reason, we have invented three theses: 1) The primacy of love, 2) The radicality of love, and 3) The dialectics of the heart. We will return to these theses later on in the text. For now, we will continue to describe the Væi, as a brand new invention and experience of the collective consciousness of the Aryan race.

When we operate in the transcendental aether, we term the experience a phenomenology of spirit, in the path of Hegel, a hermeneutics in regards to the interpretation of wisdom and of the other gender and an existentialism in regards to the fundamental experience of the truth of being, in the path of Heidegger. These three terms, phenomenology, hermeneutics and existentialism, all derive from the German philosophical tradition. As such, we embark on a radical different path, than much of Western society today that is under the influence of Judaism/Christianity and rationalism/empiricism. The new Aryan theology and philosophy, the Veda Ways, we call 'New Idealism' (see Riis-Søndergaard, 2022b). It is a radical split from mere empiricism in that we believe in absolute spirit and the transcendental reality of existence.

To experience the transcendental aether, you have to be Aryan and you have to follow the law of the heart, that is, respect, understanding and adoring. You have to seek the truth of existence. The transcendental aether is true reality, not some fantasy fiction, where everything goes, like the liberal world order. We deal with the collective consciousness of the Aryan race, not something to be taken lightly – this is race-mysticism. Formerly, this reality of the transcendental was deemed occult, but today a new generation of Aryans are publicizing our brand new meditations on what was formerly considered in the derogative. Never again will the truth of being of the Aryan race be left undefended. From now on, the present generation of Aryans will do all it takes to defend our divine existence – this we all agree on among the Aryan elite.

As modern day Aryans, we sing many songs together. It is spiritual songs, chants and freestyle, which stimulate the collective Kundalini-energy. We call it White Rak. There is overwhelming proof that spiritual songs, Kundalini and the transcendental aether and consciousness – the law of the heart – are all interconnected. This goes in tandem with the mystical union of the genders, the Aryan man and woman – divine tantra. These are some aspects we are currently investigating and developing. This is all related to the ethereal Væi, as we have discovered.

Dialectics of the heart – Aryan theology

Another interesting fact about modern day Aryans is that when we talk together, we enter into a dialectics of the heart, that is, interpretation of, insight into and understanding of the other gender by a transcendental consciousness of truth and intuition. This can only be accomplished by two people, who love each other forever – the Aryans. Much of our time in the present age is spent by the dialectics of the heart. The interest in understanding the other as an enigma of creation is an ever fruitful source of divine wisdom. By gaining an insight into the other sex, we find clues to the understanding of the mysteries of creation and it is an everlasting journey of meditation, probe and interpretation – dialogue. We have found that the mysteries of creation are best understood through the lens of the other, that is, immortal love. As such, Aryan love is radical, for it is through the other that we understand, who we are ourselves. It is our thesis that the unveiling of the truth of being takes an insight into the other sex and the dialectics of truth that this interest implies. If we want to understand, how existence came to be, we have to listen to the call of the heart – this is the greatest mystery the modern day Aryans have envisioned. By probing, interpreting and understanding the other sex, we have gained wisdom of the mysteries of creation and the primacy of love. Divine love of the Aryan race is the key that unlocks heaven and brings understanding as to why we are here. Man is the pinnacle of creation, as we inhabit a precious sphere of love, spirit and freedom. To love and understand the other sex is the immortal life of the soul and what is the fundamental fabric of the Aryan heaven. We are truly free, when we respect the other sex for being a counterpart to the mysteries of creation, who resides in the heavenly heart of immortal life. This is wisdom and the unveiling of the truth of being, as Heidegger investigated (Heidegger, 1927).

Ascension and life in the transcendental aether are a shared effort, a collective life of love, freedom and spirit. We each hold the key that unlocks the heart and brings insight and understanding to an enigma that has long been shrouded in mystery. The point is that this is another aspect of Aryan race-mysticism. It is by the collective effort, the love of a race, that we in communion raise the divine Kundalini-energy, which brings upheaval and spiritual enlightenment to the people – what we call aufheben after Hegel (see Riis-Søndergaard, 2022c). Hegel spoke of epistemology, when he described absolute spirit, but for the Aryans absolute spirit is blooded and hearted to the core of our being – this is race-purity – this is reciprocity and interdependence, not as some weak liberal concept of universality and brotherhood, but as the existence of a divine heart reserved for the Aryan race – absolute truth. The rest of the good mankind will of course follow suit and this is the White World Order, new age, where an Aryan spiritual aristocracy will rule the world for the spiritual enlightenment and benefit of the good mankind, teaching our theological tenets and improving the spiritual well-being of all good people. To sum up the dialectics of heart, we will make note of the following three concepts:

1. The primacy of love: Love is the core of heaven, the transcendental plane and what goes to explain the enigma of creation and existence.
2. The radicality of love: We only understand ourselves, the respective genders, when we respect and understand each other.
3. The dialectics of the heart: It is through the intersubjectivity, reciprocity and hermeneutics of the Aryan man and woman that we unveil the truth of being as Aryan life in heaven. This is a fundamental reality of mankind, that brings spiritual enlightenment and salvation.

These are the three main tenets of our theology and what we build the Aryan Order on.

Spiritual enlightenment

Spiritual enlightenment is to love the other and for the Aryans the other is the other Aryan sex. The other sex holds the key to our redemption and salvation. This is a radically different perspective, than the liberal-Marxist cultural woke-memes that so float the media of today. For the liberals, all things are permitted, with no religious restraint taken into consideration. All is indifferent and the only thing that goes is individualism and as a consequence alienation. This is the result of considering oneself an atomic substance, without spiritual and religious absolute truth. For the liberals, all is relative and an result of radical subjectivity and power-relations. But true power is love – love as intersubjectivity of what inherently belongs (see Riis-Søndergaard, 2022d). The foreign can never be known, only that which belongs can be known (Plotinus, 270). This is the ontological truth of the Aryan race. It is a question of origin and creation. The truth of spiritual, occult psychology is suppressed in the modern liberal states of the West, who instead make all efforts for people to break their natural, ontological bonds, rendering them slaves to the global control society (Deleuze, 1990). In India and Japan they accept the race-mysticism as a state-reality and support their people in ontological truth. This fact is what recently made Joe Biden, the American president, describe those two countries as “xenophobic” and “unaccustomed to the liberal world economy”. This is typical Neo-liberal rhetoric, but for the Indian and Japanese cultures to be free, they need spiritual enlightenment and this is given by the blood and the spirit of a people (Nietzsche, 1885). We are all ingrained in creation according to origin, stance and valences, so the two respective countries must acknowledge their own heritage and fate as nations – a birthright and a common destiny. The same is true for the Aryans – we must acknowledge our heavenly origin as incarnated beings at home in pure being, the transcendental and spiritual life of a holy race. Only then will we gain understanding of ontological existence and truth. This is the unveiling of the truth of being that is so fundamental to the life of mankind. The good news is that today the present generation of Aryans are making headway in realizing this ontological reality and regime. To tread the path of spiritual enlightenment takes a strong heart, for what we seek is the truth of the heart. It is not true, when the liberals say that man is capable of both good and evil. The Aryans are absolutely good, we are “white-hearted”, as we say. Heaven is absolutely good. Evil only exists in the temporal sphere of existence. Therefore, as Aryans, it is our duty to combat evil in the world. This is the White World Order, named after the serene and blessed day. When you love someone, you realize, that the heart-chakra is a vibrant, translucent white colour. The crown-chakra is a more ambient purple and golden colour. When the crown-chakra is activated through Kundalini-yoga, you become light as a feather. When the pineal gland is activated, we get a halo around our heads. These are some of the capabilities of the Aryan race, which was discovered in early history and which we have rediscovered today. It is an amazing reality, but this knowledge of the spiritual capabilities of the Aryan race has been suppressed in the West in modern times. Another interesting discovery of the modern Aryans is the light-body or astral-body, which we have found to be absolutely true. This is related to our lives in the transcendental. The ethereal light-body is the primary being of the Aryans. But this discovery is being suppressed in the Western world along with the Kundalini-energy and the chakras, all concepts that are necessary for spiritual enlightenment and upheaval and so integral to the life of the Aryans. In the White World Order, we wish to teach the world of the spiritual nature of our lives. No longer shall Neo-liberal reductionism and materialism rule the world. In the future, an enlightened Aryan spiritual aristocracy will rule the world and recreate existence along the lines of the spiritual and transcendental.

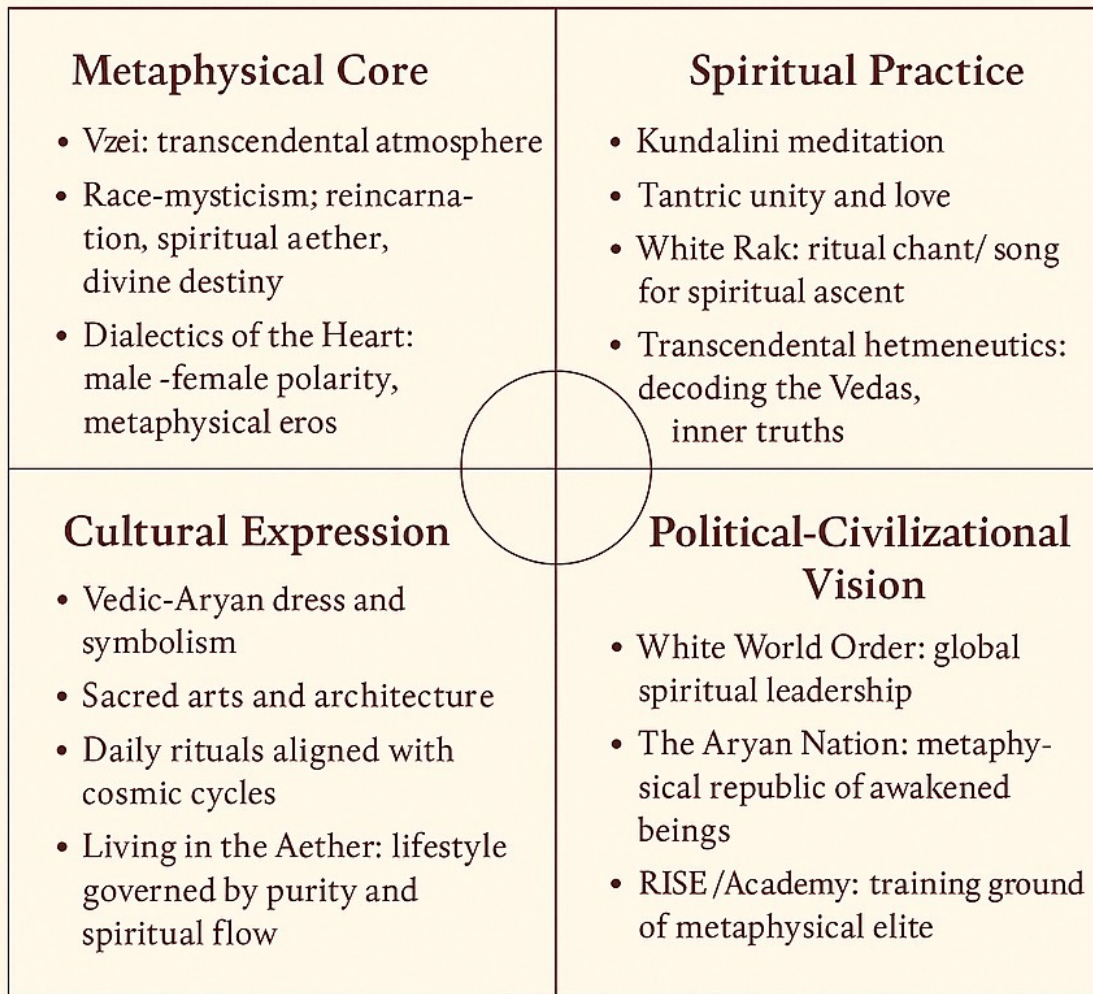

A new age dawning

We are about to enter into a new age. Actually, we have already entered the new age, for the modern day Aryans are awake to the spiritual nature of reality and united in our efforts to bring about a White World Order. The goal of the Aryans is to establish an Aryan Nation in Northern Denmark, where we can reside and practice divine love and Kundalini-meditation. The ultimate goal is aufheben, the upheaval of our people and a return to heavens, absolving temporal existence for the everlasting truth of the heart. Equally, we wish to redeem the world of evil and bring salvation to the good mankind. This is the power of Kundalini-meditation, where we chant and sing spiritual songs to uplift the collective energy and raise the Kundalini. This is the hope of mankind and the promise of a great future ahead of us. Already, we see the Aryans gather in Scandinavia and Germany to participate in researching the Vedas (see Riis-Søndergaard, 2022e) and develop our culture anew, the Veda Ways. We are all absolutely optimistic for the future and for our plans and we are full of joy for having rediscovered our origin and spiritual, transcendental nature. Already Plotinus, the ancient Roman philosopher, wrote about ecstasy as the highest attainable goal of the spirit (Plotinus, 270). We have found this to be completely true to the word. Much good can be said about Christianity, for their talk of love, heaven and angels, but the modern day Aryans are more interested in discovering the wisdom of the Vedas and the Edda, which are a more truthful rendition of the life of the Aryan. Both the Vedas and the Nordic Edda are actually an aspect of wisdom of our collective consciousness that can be meditated upon, probed and interpreted contemporaneously, all due to the transcendental nature of our race. This is a great discovery and we have already made great progress in our meditations on absolute truth and the transcendental.

Again, we wish to emphasize that the Neo-liberal/Marxist world order offers no opportunity for redemption, salvation and ecstasy, because they believe in nothing and tolerate evil and hatred. They have no faith and therefore no heart. The only radical alternative is a faithful Aryan spiritual aristocracy, practicing Kundalini-yoga and fighting for aufheben, the ultimate goal of world history and the telos of existence. This is all accomplished by a loving heart, but we are still aware that there are forces that wish to counter our claims of spiritual supremacy and wish to deny us our birthright. Therefore it is adamant that the good mankind all over the world unite with the Aryans to foster and bring about a White World Order of the heart and the day. We know, who we are: we are Aryans, and we know, what we want: we want to be together. This is the slogan of the present generation of Aryans and we will never waiver in our spiritual pursuits.

This text is written by the Aryan elite. We inhabit Scandinavia and Germany, especially Denmark. Since 2016, we have been active in researching and developing a new Aryan culture. We are young, in our 20's and 30's. The world is before us and despite violent resistance from the old, Neo-liberal/Marxist world order, we have made immense progress in understanding, who we are as a race. We wish to end the violence of the old world order and the old conspiracy of the victors of the Second World War. The truth of our race and of our heavenly blood will never disappear, no matter what evil violence is being perpetrated against us. The Neo-liberals and Marxists are doing everything they can to try and stop us in our awakening and unification, as they can't relate to faith and spiritual upheaval, aufheben, to be sure. We wish all the White World Order welcome in developing our ideology and White Order goals. We hope for a fruitful relationship to much of the world's population that reflect upon our mission and goals. We wish all good people the best and good luck for the future.
